

Life goes on

Take the ring off of your finger
Take the pictures off the wall
Phone your friends up one by one
To say it's over
Let the words and tears fall

Tell your kids your daddy's on the phone
He wants to tell you both goodnight
You tuck them in and say the words
You try to believe
"everything will be alright"

Oh you might think you know what's right or wrong
You only know when life goes on
In one day all the world you knew is gone
All that's left is - life goes on

Heard the news about your boy today
In just a moment he was gone
All your friends hear one by one
The unthinkable's come
Let the words and tears fall

We all wonder how we'd bear the loss
How we'd face the empty room
Surely every day that dawns
We'd think - this must be wrong
Cuz the world is missing you

You might think you know you're weak or strong
You only know when life goes on
In one day all the world you knew is gone
All that's left is - life goes on

Take the blankets from your sleeping bed
Lay them out beneath the stars
Watch the wonder of it all
We're so small
In this place - by the grace - of this beating heart

We may think we live on higher ground
Warm and dry and safe and sound
In one day all the world we knew is gone

All that's left is - life goes on

*We can build these towers tall and strong
Never think that they might fall
In one day all the world we knew is gone
